

WIN A TRIP TO THE SINGAPORE GRAND PRIX WITH MOBIL 1 MAN AND MACHINE

As excitement builds for the first-ever Grand Prix night race, Autosport has teamed up with Mobil 1 to offer a lucky winner the chance to win a three-day trip for two to the 2008 Formula 1™ SingTel Singapore Grand Prix night race.

Grand prix racing has always been a closely fought contest where the difference between finishing first and second often comes down to the smallest of details. The millions that follow the sport may give little thought to all the components that enable the 760bhp race cars to go at around 220mph and accelerate away from the line to 60mph in less than three seconds.

Thankfully, though, the people at Mobil 1 put a lot of thought into it and as a technology partner to the Vodafone McLaren Mercedes Grand Prix team, it makes sure that both Lewis Hamilton and Heikki Kovalainen's race cars are able to deal with the punishing demands of the 18-round World Championship, as the V8 engines push flat out on the circuits of the world. Testing on the cars never stops, and the Mobil 1 technical team constantly review and research the engine oils, the lifeblood of the Vodafone McLaren Mercedes Formula One Car. In parallel with this process, Lewis must also maintain an exacting fitness regime to make sure that his body can deal with the gruelling physical demands of the sport.

PRIZE

Our winner and guest will fly out to Singapore, just as excitement is reaching fever pitch for one of grand prix racing's most eagerly anticipated races. As well as grandstand seats in the Padang Stand for all three days, they will enjoy three nights' 4-star hotel accommodation located close to the track, and food and entertainment at the nearby Boat Quay Brasserie on Saturday and Sunday.

Five runners-up will each receive a signed and personalised copy of Lewis Hamilton's Autobiography, My Story.
